

Adjusting flap tension and magnet strength for Endura Flap Pet Doors Manufactured by Patio Pacific, Inc.

Link to a graphic that should help you with adjusting your magnet strength:

1) There is an aqua colored retainer clip at the bottom of the flap in the graphic. Remove that, it pops off pretty easily with a flat head screw driver, then remove the magnets.

If you still need to lessen the magnet strength then here is another link that might help you out:

1) There are magnets down the sides of the FRAME that you can remove as well. Do not remove the ones on the sides of the flap, as these are very difficult to put back on.

2) To remove the side magnets, located under the cover strip that is YELLOW in the graphic, but grey in your door, first lift the flap all the way up.

3) Using a flat head screw driver inserted above the top of the cover strip, almost all the way up the frame where flap connects to the rod, pull that cover strip off and you will see the magnet underneath. Remove the magnet.

It is much easier to remove the magnets and not the entire flap, as you would have to uninstall your pet door to take off the flaps.
